COO

Especially because today is Father's Day, I've been scouring the App Store for any new and interesting greeting card apps. I was pleased to find one I had not noticed before called PepBlast Animated 200+ eCards. Though there are a few great card apps out there, they are small in number as compared to games, utilities, music and other such apps. PepBlast can be commended for being so easy to use and fast performance. There are a large assortment of greetings included, but let's take a look at the overall features of this iPhone, iPad greeting card app:

- 200+ eCards designs: I counted at least 30 in most categories
- Over 40 eCard collections: A few of the 40 categories include Congratulations, Father's Day, Flowers, Friends, Graduation, Good Luck, Hello, Love, Mother's Day
- Animated video eCards with cool songs: Each animated video clip card loads in seconds and plays with music
- Personalized message: Plenty of room to write your special message
- Browse and Preview: Make sure your card is perfect before sending
- Send eCard by email or Facebook: By email your recipient you will receive a link from which to retrieve the card
- View eCards on PCs, Smartphones, Tablets, etc.

Once you have selected the specific greeting category you need from the rotating dial list, then thumbnails will appear with a brief description of the included cards. Tap one, it loads quickly and previews exactly what you will be sending to family and friends. 3 fields only appear which you must complete: To (the name of your recipient), Note (your own greeting), and From (list your name here). You are given the option to send the card via Facebook or Email.

If you send via Email, your native mail app will open where you will enter the recipient's address and send the card on its way with a link where your friend may retrieve it. This whole process takes no more than 2 minutes to complete. You may purchase unlimited PepBlast e-cards for $1.99 via the in-app PRO purchase, or else use the free app with a card number limitation. In playing with PepBlast, I really enjoyed the mini clips, audio, and excellent quality of both. This is an excellent service and source of quick-send, user-friendly greetings of all kinds.

BONUS POINTS: Enjoy loads of greeting card options that are easily and quickly created, as well as unique in every way.
